

A Tale of Roots

— by Mitali Majumder

Contents

- Project Summary
- Moodboard & Story
- Motif Development
- Design Development
- Final Garment &
Technical Detailing
- Materials List
- Final Look

A Tale of Roots

"A Tale of Roots is a sustainable fashion project inspired by the place where I was born and the values that shaped my identity. Growing up in the countryside, I developed a deep appreciation for nature, simplicity, and traditional craftsmanship. This collection transforms those memories into a contemporary cape crafted from handwoven khadi fabric and adorned with Jamdani-inspired motifs. Using natural turmeric dye, the design embraces environmentally conscious practices while celebrating cultural heritage. The project symbolizes the enduring bond between people, their roots, and the land they call home, demonstrating how tradition can be preserved and reimagined through modern sustainable fashion."

MOOD

Like roots hidden beneath the earth, traditions quietly sustain our identity. This design draws inspiration from the unseen connections between ancestry, craftsmanship, and nature. Through Khadi, Jamdani-inspired motifs, and natural turmeric dye, the garment tells a story of growth, resilience and cultural continuity.

- Pantone 11-0601 TCX
- Pantone 680 - C
- Pantone 7604 - C
- Pantone 617 - C

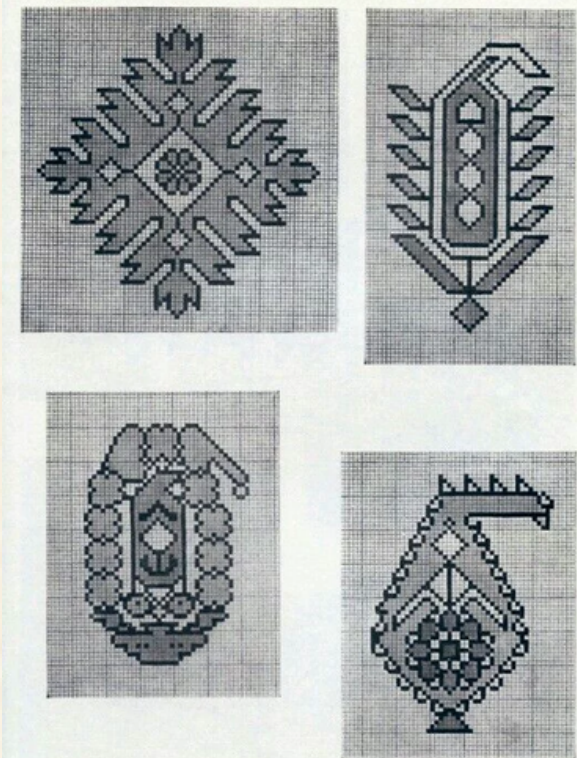

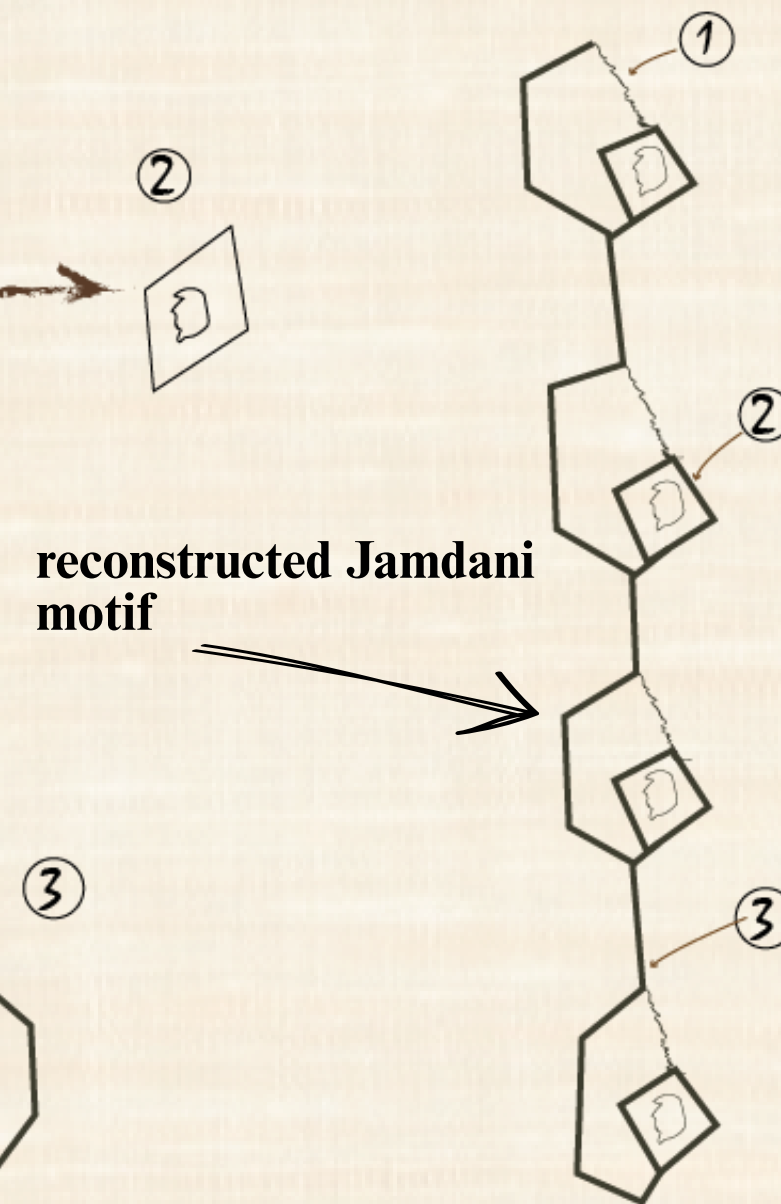

Heritage
Handloom
Tradition
Sustainability

Motif Development

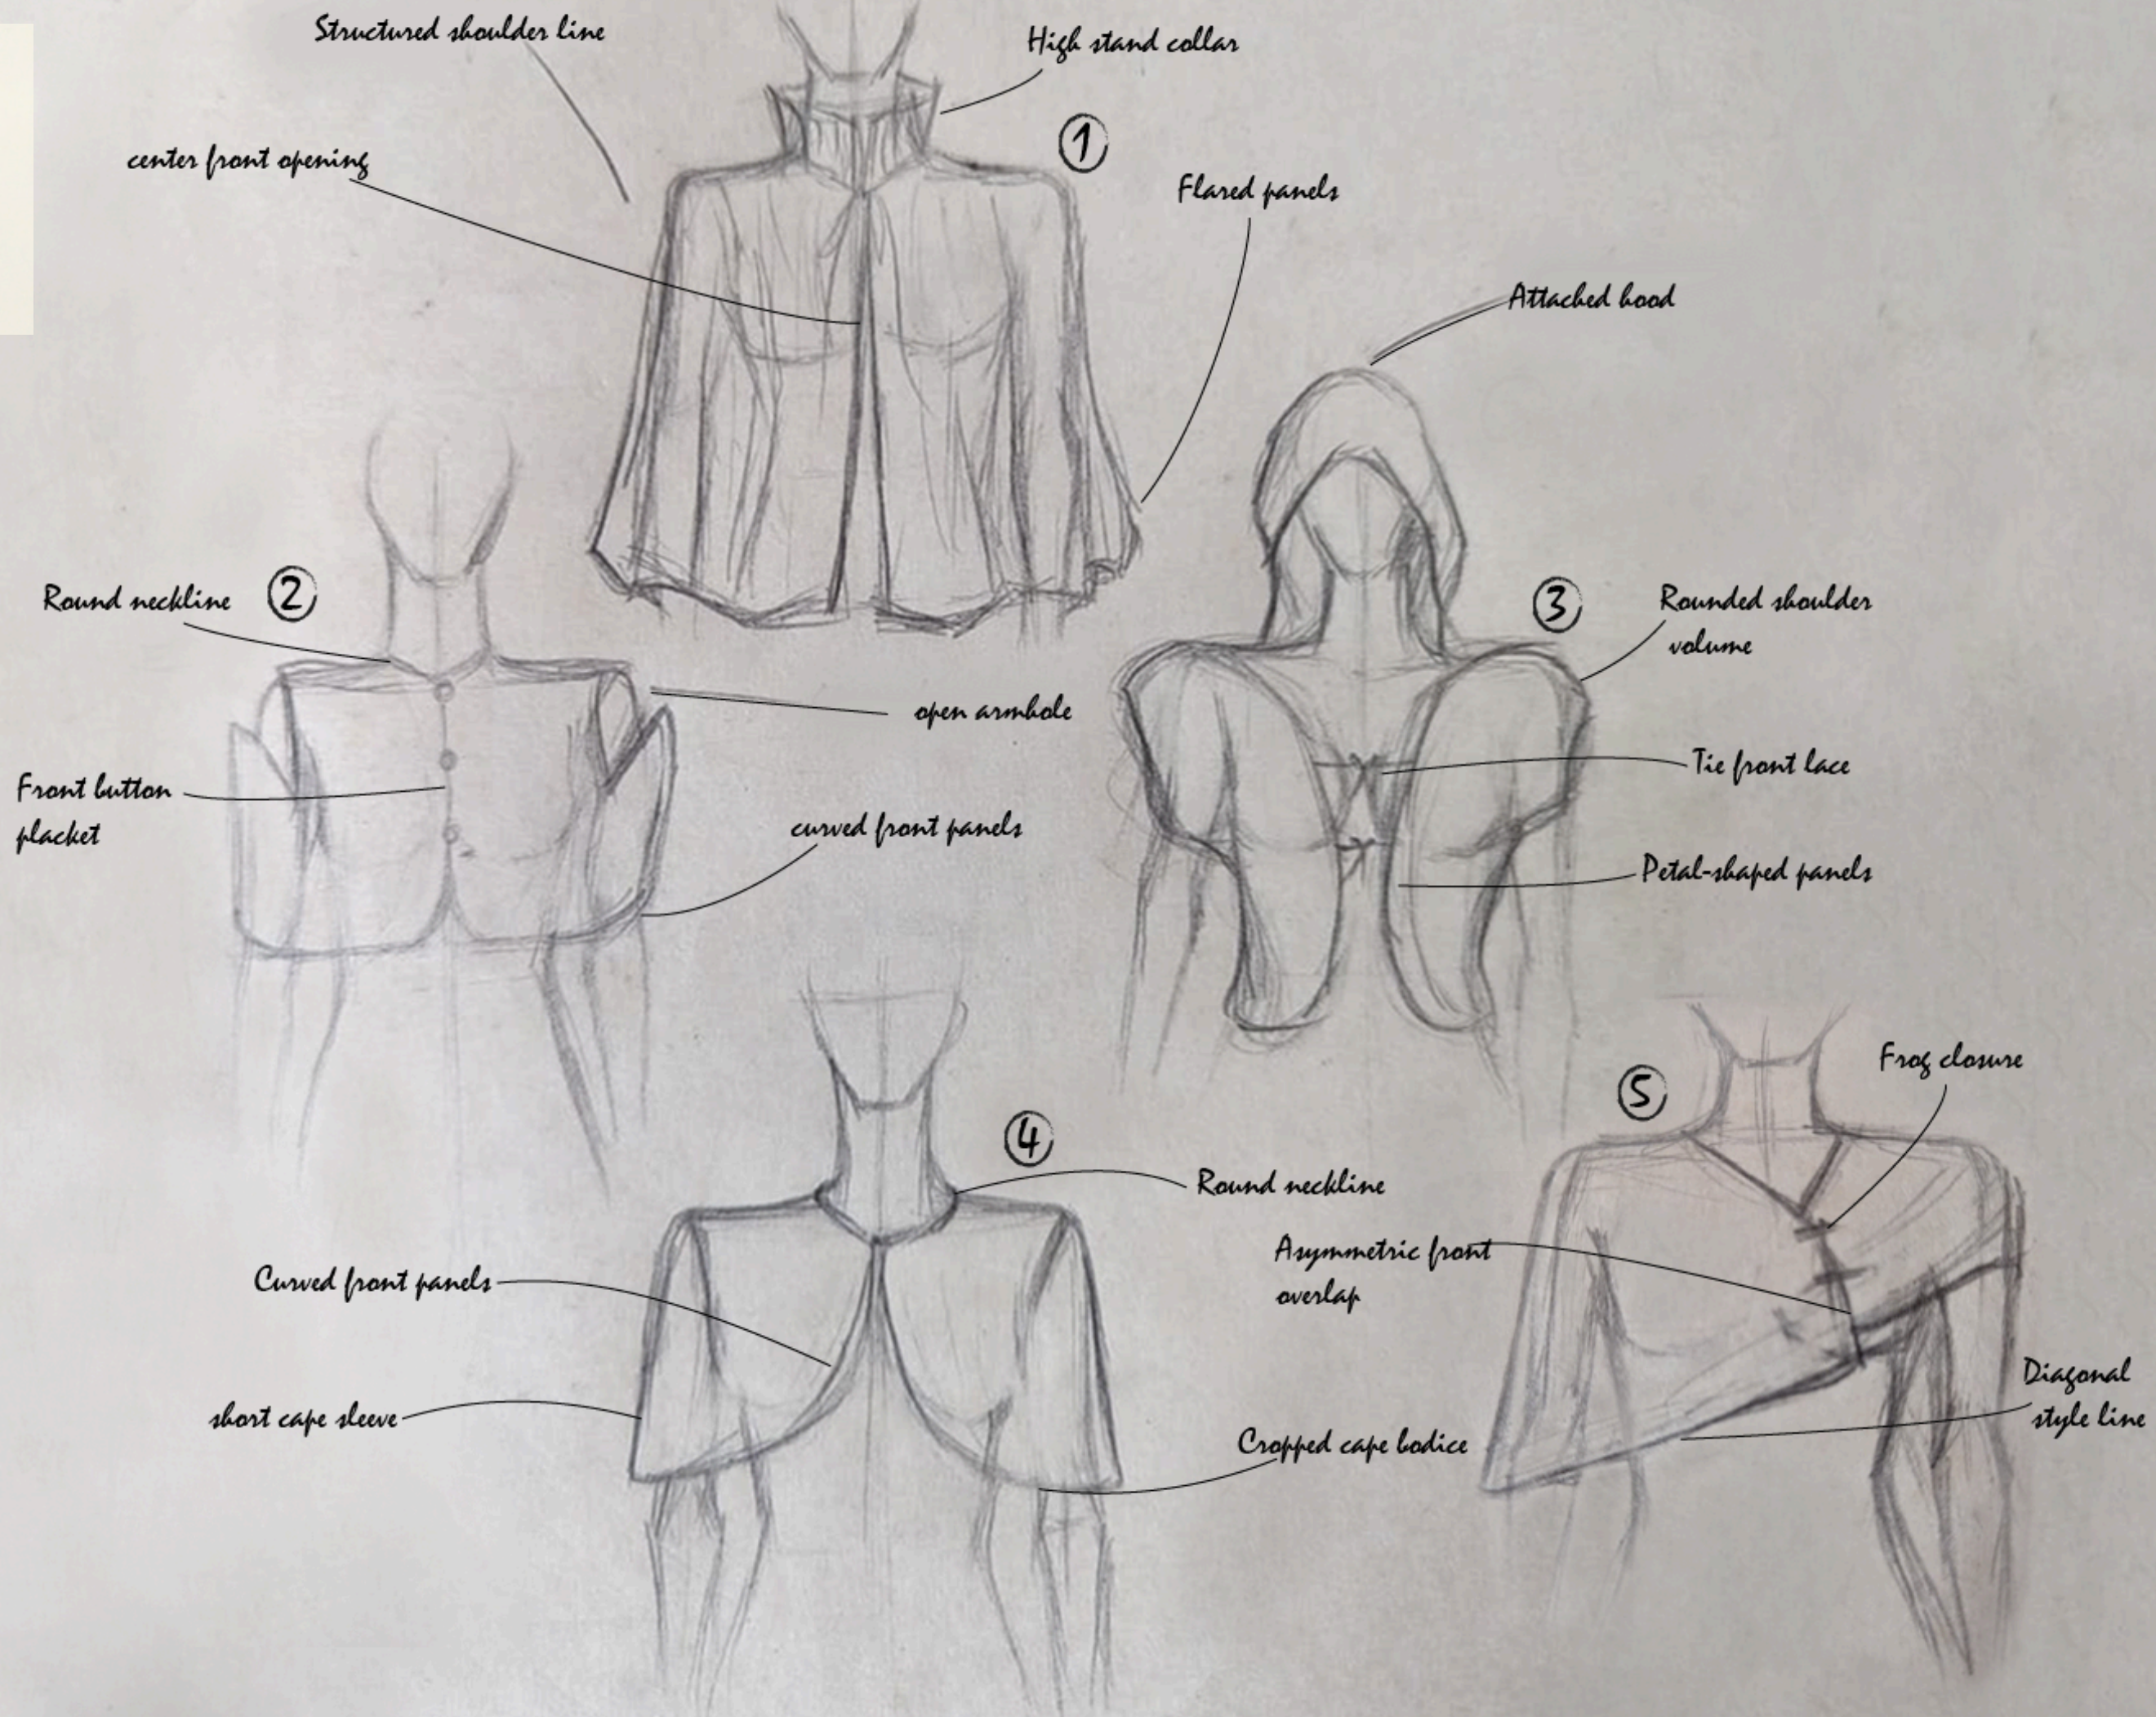

Traditional Jamdani Motifs

Every motif begins with a story. Inspired by the timeless beauty of Jamdani and I explored traditional patterns and gradually refined them into a simpler, contemporary design.

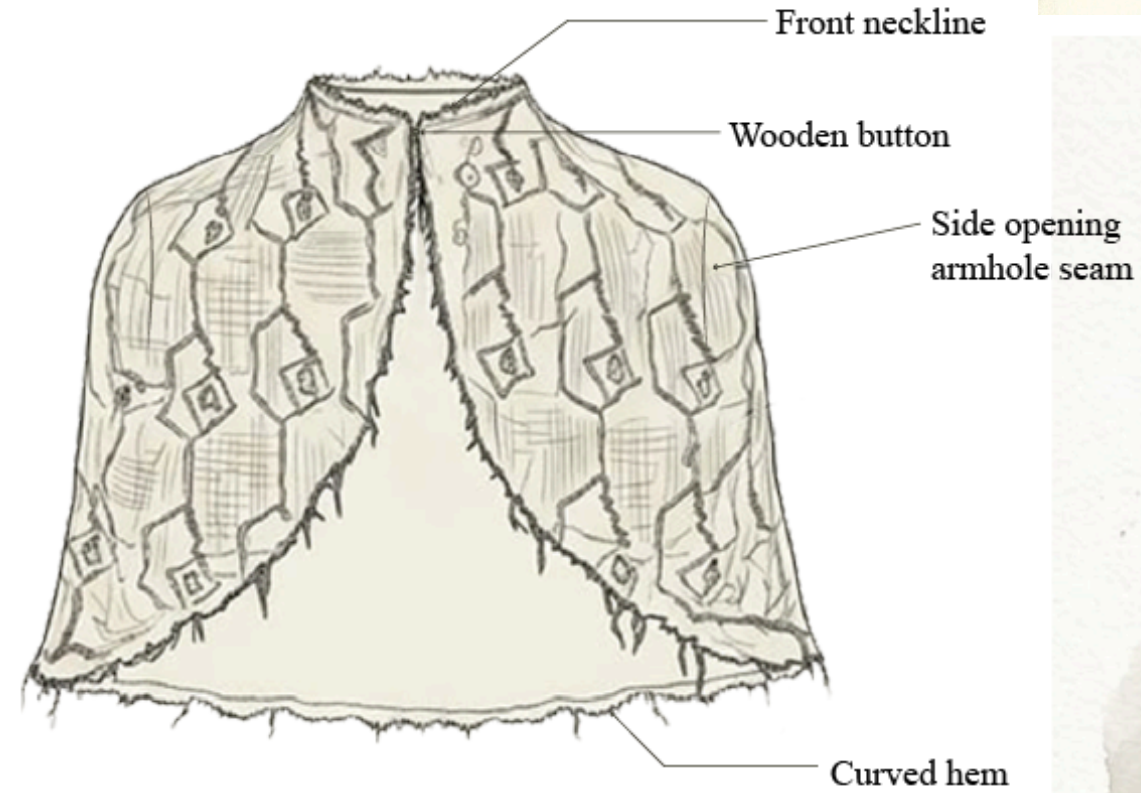

Design Development

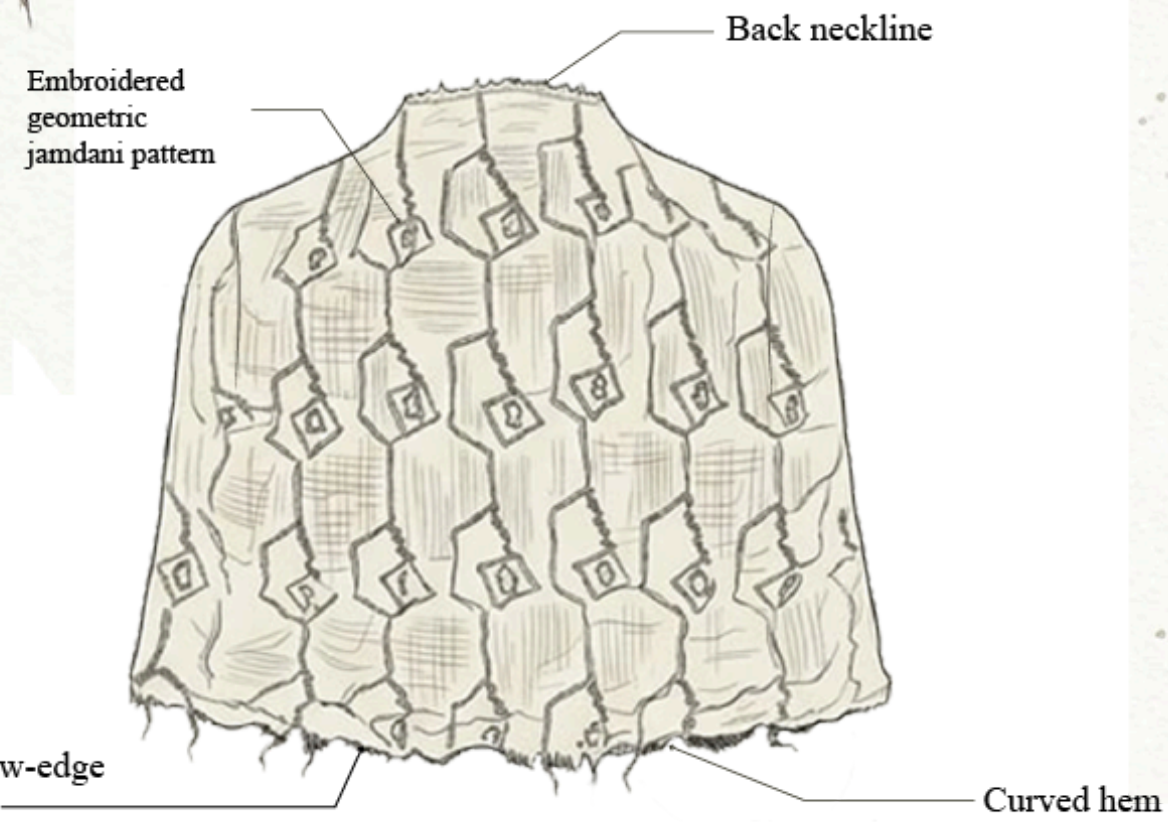

Final Garment & Technical Detailing

Front View

Back View

Wooden Button

Materials List

Turmeric Powder

Handwoven Khadi Fabric

Light Brown Sewing Thread

White Sewing Thread

